RUSSIANS RETREAT TO MUKDEN AFTER

RIVAL GENERALS IN MANCHURIAN CAMPAIGN.

VETERANS REFUSE TO MARCH UNDER NEGRO

LOUISVILLE POST WILL NOT OBEY ORDERS FOR BOSTON ENCAMPMENT.

When the Whitaker Post, of Louisville, Ky., reaches Boston there is likely to be discussion in Grand Army ranks. If the Blue Guard post members adhere to their resolution to refuse to parade under a negro, Command-in-Chief Black takes the same view of the situation as Adjutant General Edward P. Freese, of the Massachusetts division. General Freese says the Whitaker Post must march with the Kentucky division, according to military law and precedent. The Whitaker Post refused to obey the order of State Commander W. A. Lee.

JAP VICTORY

KUROPATKIN IN DANGER OF LOSING WHOLE ARMY

Big Jap Armies Moving to Cut Off the Retreating Russians While Marshal Oyama Presses the Main Pursuit—Final Attack on Port Arthur.

LONDON, July 29.—General Kuropatkin has evacuated Liao-Yang, following the Russian defeat at Tachekiao, and is in full retreat with the greater part of his army toward Mukden. General Kuroki is in a position to swing the first Japanese army in between Kuropatkin and the Manchurian base, however, and it is the opinion here that it will be impossible for the Russian field commander to make good his retreat.

DEMOCRATS PICK DAY OF CONVENTION

First Choice, Oct. 17, is Day Selected by State Republicans.

MAY YET BE CHANGED.

The Executive Committee of the Democratic State Convention met today in session on the report of the sub-committee appointed to arrange a date for the State Convention and other details preliminary to the convention. The sub-committee recommended that the State Convention be held in the Boston Theatre on October 17. That, however, is the date chosen by the Republican State Committee for the Equitable Convention, and in order to prevent a conflict in attendance there was strong objection in the committee to holding both conventions on the same day.

The Japanese armies of Generals Oku and Nodzu are pressing the Russians hard on the South and East. An envying semicircle of Japanese extends from New-Chang clear around, in a sweeping, unbroken line, to within a short distance of Mukden.

BIG BATTLE INEVITABLE.

A great battle must follow Kuropatkin's attempt to escape. Military experts believe that he will never be permitted to reach Mukden with his army. The Japanese now occupy Tachi-Chao, Hsiao-Chang and New-Chang, and will, of course, occupy Liao-Yang. Kuropatkin has left a large body of Russians to delay the advance of the Japanese. The number is so small, however, compared with the Japanese force, that it will be impossible for it to hold Oku and Nodzu in check.

OYAMA IN COMMAND. The Russian abandoned Tachekiao at 10 on Monday, before the advancing Japanese could reach it. (Continued on 2d Page, 2d Column.)

OPERATIVES DESERT FALL RIVER HOMES

ALARM EXPRESSED THAT CITY WILL LOSE PRESTIGE AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE.

FALL RIVER, July 29.—The exodus of mill hands from Fall River has begun in earnest. Seventy families left today. More will leave to-morrow. Business men and close observers of the situation regard this action as the strongest indication that the looters at the looms will never submit to the cut in wages.

The families that went away to England towns. Some of them day for the most part had tickets were French-Canadians and were for Rhode Island and other New England towns. (Continued on 2d Page, 2d Column.)

WIDOW ASKS A TERM IN JAIL AND GETS IT

At her own request, Mrs. Beale Miller, widow, living at No. 300 Melrose street, Boston, was given one month in the House of Correction to-day in Malden District Court. She was charged with drunkenness and disturbing the peace, and adjudged guilty on the second charge. "I wish you would put me away for a while," she said to the Court. "I think I'll be better for it. I think a month in the House of Correction would be good for me."

WIFE-SLAYER, SUICIDE, GAMBLE AWAY $15,000

BUFFALO, July 29.—Migay T. Washburn, who murdered his wife and daughter and then shot himself to death, gambled away $15,000 of money belonging to the firm of Washburn & Henshaw, of which he was the senior member. Most of the money belonged to Henshaw.

UNCONSCIOUS IN PARK.

William Jenkins, of No. 21 Wellesley street, East Boston, was found in an unconscious condition on a seat in Charlestown Park and sent to the Relief Hospital. He is suffering from hemorrhage of the brain and is a native of England.

ROCKEFELLER SAYS TO TESTIFY

BOSTON TO SUE

Must Tell Their Parts in the Boston Gas Merger "Settlement."

CASE IN SUPREME COURT

By decree of the Supreme Court of New York, both John D. Rockefeller and his brother William must testify in the suit brought by Terry R. Wardner, of Boston, against A. C. Burrage, to compel the latter to pay the plaintiff $127,000, alleged to be due him for his services in bringing about the famous "settlement" of the Boston gas fight in 1902.

The Standard Oil magazine will testify by deposition and will be forced to tell in this way what they knew of the transaction, when the case comes up for trial in the Massachusetts Supreme Court in October. It is H. H. Rogers has already made a deposition, so that his shares in Europe will not affect the progress of the suit.

Lawsuit May Testify.
According to a representative of the plaintiff, Thomas W. Lawson and other prominent men who have been connected with local gas matters will be asked to testify. The case is being brought by the plaintiff to test the veracity of the story told by the Standard Oil Company, which secured for $5,000,000 cash and $1,000,000 worth of securities the stocks and bonds of local gas companies held as collateral by the Standard Oil Company of New York.

Sharing the Profits.
It is alleged that Burrage's portion of the distribution of the profits of the deal was not less than $1,000,000, and that he received some check calling for the payment of $250,000.

A sensational phase of the testimony, it is said, will deal with the fact that a conference in a room at the St. Charles Hotel, New York, in 1902, was attended by Lawson, representing J. Edward Aldrich, and A. C. Burrage, who was then president of the Standard Oil Company.

Mr. Wardner claims to have brought about the conference, and that the result was the deal that went into effect May 1, 1904.

Pettier King Al Adams is unsworn. Due to his illness, the witness was not present for the last decision of the Supreme Court.

Lord Huxley, the British Premier's general, contends that the Government must control the press in order to meet the emergency of war and international agreements.

Rudolph Spreckels, the sugar king, has been nominally elected as president of the California.

Admiral Berkley has ordered a warship to transport the remains of the late James W. C. Smith, who died in Trieste, Italy.

Governor White, of West Virginia, has ordered the protection of a negro, George Williams, who has been in the Circuit Court at Jefferson County.

The directors of the St. Louis World's Fair have set the date of the fair to be held from May 30 to June 25 next.

20 HORSECOCKS GIRL DRIFTS IN MERRY

Newport's ultra-fashionable cottage colony is relieved just now by the presence of some functions there of no less than twenty young and attractive women. There are many meetings at ball and regattas of which the Newport colony has the right to be proud.

There is no doubt that the young people who are brought out in a great double-lined motorcade in next Sunday's BOSTON AMERICAN. If you want to make sure of getting a copy, better order today of your newsdealer.

ASKS AMERICAN FINEST USBAID

Miss Clarence Paige, of No. 41 Linden avenue, Malden, asks the BOSTON AMERICAN to help her find her husband, who was married to her in 1902, and who she says is now in the city of New York.

Clarence A. Paige left home Wednesday with $200 in his pocket. He has not been seen by his wife since. Friends and the police have been unable to locate him.

Paige has been known to one of the departments of the Boston Rubber Shoe Company's big factory in Malden. He is forty-three years old, five feet seven inches in height and of dark complexion. When he left home he wore a coat of gray, a white shirt, a white necktie and a light gray hat.

PITTSFIELD MAY DEAD IN WEST. LINCOLN, N. H., July 28.—Charles M. Brown, of Pittsfield, Mass., was picked up on the street here yesterday. He was about thirty years old, five feet six inches in height and of dark complexion. He was wearing a coat of gray, a white shirt, a white necktie and a light gray hat.

FOLLOWING 2 YEARS' CUSTOM, MR. AND MRS. ALFRED G. GO WITH PEOPLE TO WOODS.

SAYS WOMAN SUES IN ANGER

Answering the statements made by Mrs. Margaret C. Crane, of West Medford, who has sued the estate of George Sherman, of West Medford, for $2,000 for 2,000 drawings of the late Mr. Sherman's hand at $1 a drawing, George W. Sherman, brother of the dead man, claims that an unpaid note of $100 held by Mrs. Crane against the Sherman estate is the basis of the suit.

Young Mr. Sherman also filed suit against the estate for services. He came from England fifteen years ago, at the request of his uncle, to care for him. When his uncle died, it was found that the Sherman estate had been forgotten. The $200 note of the sister Mrs. Sherman was never paid.

Once upon a time the Grand Lama of Tibet found himself involved in a problem of which he could find no solution. He called in his advisors and consulted with them, but all to no purpose.

What his trouble was will be told on the puzzle page of next SUNDAY'S BOSTON AMERICAN, and puzzle solvers will have the chance to see how they would have fared.

His dilemma. Foxy Granda will also be on hand with a new puzzle, and to get both, with all the other interesting features will cost you only five cents. Better order a copy of the paper of your newsdealer today, and you will be sure of it.

20 HORSECOCKS GIRL DRIFTS IN MERRY

Miss Della Crane, a twenty-year-old girl, who said she lived at No. 38, Molten street, Charlestown, was found unconscious in a row boat today near Craig's bridge, in the Charles River, where she had been rowing a gold ring and purse.

The last she remembered was going for a rowing trip yesterday afternoon with two men, one named Leonard. She became unconscious. Abandoned by the men she floated on the current, through the last afternoon and evening hours far into the night. Her gold ring and pocket book, with a sum of money, had disappeared.

Patroness McCarthy and Dunlop, of Cambridge, record the young woman's disappearance today in a charge of investigation and was told St. Paternick McCarthy paid the fee and she went home.

REV. DR. DONALD'S END NOW HOURLY EXPECTED

At dawn today a homeless man was sleeping on a bench in Franklin square, Boston. He was about 40 years old, of dark complexion, and was wearing a coat of gray, a white shirt, a white necktie and a light gray hat.

CHILD, FATHER BOTH MISSING

Although the Probate Court granted her the custody of her four-year-old daughter, Dorothy Gray Harlow, Mrs. Bertina M. Harlow, of Woburn, is unable to find the child, who was last seen with her father, Theodore J. Harlow, Jr., of Cambridge, a salesman for Walter A. Pratt, of Boston.

Two years ago Mr. and Mrs. Harlow separated after four years of married life. An agreement was made by which the father was allowed to see his daughter once a month. Mrs. Harlow's mother usually taking the child to the father's home at Cambridge, where she remained from morning until evening.

The last time on Tuesday, July 10, Mrs. Gray took Dorothy to the Harlow home, but when she returned in the evening to find the child gone, she called on her father, who told her that Dorothy and her father were out on a Friday night.

She has not seen a child of fifteen years old, who she said she had seen in Woburn, Mass., before the child was kidnapped. She said she had seen the child in the arms of a man, who she said was the father, and that she had seen the child in the arms of a man, who she said was the father, and that she had seen the child in the arms of a man, who she said was the father.

HEPTASOPH SERVICE IN MEMORY OF FLOOD

Four hundred members and friends of the Heptasoph Service, of Cambridge, Mass., held a memorial service in Cambridge today to honor the memory of the late Theodore J. Harlow, Jr., of Cambridge, a salesman for Walter A. Pratt, of Boston.

The service was conducted by the Rev. John J. Harlow, of Cambridge, and was held in the Cambridge City Hall. The service was held in the Cambridge City Hall, and was held in the Cambridge City Hall.

TWENTY GA BOURGEOIS AT NEWPORT

Their Influence on Debutantes and Children Described in the Sunday American.

OTHER STERLING FEATURES

A startling story of Newport's ultra-feminine colony of multi-millionaires. Twenty gay divorcees, possessed of beauty, wealth and beauty, a feast of fashionable life in the cottage colony. "Profoundly vulgar," as the divorcee is laughingly described in Newport circle.

The effect and moral influence of these twenty divorcees upon the debutantes and younger women of the inner circle of society.

The effect upon the children of these women, upon the general tone of society, the manner of life of these divorcees, together with reproductions of the divorcees' portraits, and a two-page feature of extraordinary and compelling interest in SUNDAY'S BOSTON AMERICAN.

Do you know what the real American beauty really looks like? The answer is in the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN. It is a picture of a woman who possesses characteristics, features, eyes, mouth, hair, figure, and character totally different from what you would ever have expected.

American girls are forever marrying foreigners of title and reputation good and bad, and indifferent, but have you heard the charming story of how one of the most beautiful girls in Newport's society, a divorcee, married a foreigner, a man who was a big railroad magnate, and who had full quota of money and ability to marry. It had not been able to win and possibly to appear well in a bathing suit, he might have been like you, like you into the affections of the beauty. The marriage began on the building beach and the features of that SUNDAY'S BOSTON AMERICAN, and the story of the beauty and of the happy ending.

Like a tale from the Arabian Nights is the strange and marvelous story of the last chapter in the sensational life of a lady in Newport, who, after having adapted herself to this environment and the life of the divorcees, has become a beautiful native girl and became king of the divorcees. The story is so interesting and the courts have decided that his rich estate should be equally divided between his American and his foreign wives.

Mrs. Robert Osborne's Sunday feature is one of the most interesting to all types of readers. How good should be made than any other. She has some excellent advice and advice to all. The Sunday magazine.

Some queer motor "antics" are depicted by wonderful photographs.

An article on the ethics of the ball room, together with the most Sunday picture of the women, are features of most interesting magazine section.

From the article cover page, done into colors and designed by the artist, Peary Standen, to the last page, which is a picture of the children of the divorcees and the children of the divorcees, the magazine of the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN is a picture of the divorcees and the children of the divorcees.

Bob Unglaub was out early in his season to get all the practice possible. His season was kept him out of the game for such a long time that he feels that he needs

Frank Owen, the star twirler of the Boyz n the City tour, says he is in the box for the violators this afternoon. He is in grand shape and says he is surely win, if he is given a try at the tempo.

Owen has been out playing up the Boston for the first two games, and thinks he can give the benders which will fool them.

"I've got all my speedy ones working," Owen says. "I can give them a good one, a clutch for me to win. I haven't been for about a week, and it's about time for me to get back in the game since which believe they have the best."

There was no certainty about Owen being in the box, but Manager Jones thought he could give him a try. It was right in practice. In case Owen was not in the box, the Boyz n the City given another show at the home talent.

AL DU DOCE

ALPH ROSE
COMING EAST

ANN ARBOR, Mich., July 29.—Keene Patrick, athletic director of the University of Michigan, has announced that he will send Ralph W. Rowe, the giant shot putter, to the Eastern Intercollegiate championships next year to represent the University of Michigan.

Rose is the man who has broken the world's records for putting the twelve and sixteen-pound weights, and his appearance in the East will probably mean new figures in the shot put and hammer throw in the college world.

Rose is improving rapidly in throwing the hammer, discus and fifty-six-pound weight, and, as he will compete in these events in the Olympic World's Championships in August and September at St. Louis, he should make a great showing.

OUT AT COURTS

E. W. Leonard, the young player, who made such a favorable impression throughout the tournament by his consistent playing, was scheduled to meet G. Seaver, who was one of the hardest hitters of the tournament from A. R. Pieri the second round, and, who, in the following round easily disposed of R. B. V. The match, which came as a great surprise to many, was a close one.

Alvin and Alfreed Godman were to play their match in the fifth round of the tournament. The crowd was growing and waiting patiently for the start of the match. When Ward walked onto the court he was greeted in fine style. The New Jersey man has won many friends and whenever the time for match with him comes one of the participants comes forward always moves their chairs in the direction of the court upon which he is to play. Godman is also a favorite as was shown by the ovation he received when he started playing.

AN ADIAN BID ON BIG FIGHT

Big inducements have been made to Bob Simmons and Jack O'Brien for a twenty-round battle in Canada on August 1, by the International Athletic Association.

If the fighters agree to fight across the border, the club will put up a forfeit guarantee that the bout will be pulled off.

There is no one doubt against the anxious to turn the tables. Fans out Dorchester way are thirsting for this conflict, as they have been for the last week, but they were able to attend a game on Highlandia last night.

Last Saturday the Dorchesters were hooked to hook up with the crazy West Quabbin, but the local fans, because of the rain gods were not able to pull off the game, but the local followers of the team will be interested to learn that Freddy

There is nothing slow about Johnnie Sullivan, who hastens to reply to the deflating by Young Cole recently. He is ready to do business with the mits at any time and will stick up with any of the local boys.

He makes the following statement:

"Having seen Young Cole's challenge to me."

George G. 9,214, the fast gelding purchased in California last year, and George's wife, Mrs. J. C. 9,215, the fast mare, both of which were sold for $10,000 each. Roger Williams, who has been in the harness business in California for many years, is the owner of the pair. The pair were sold to the Boston American, and will be used in the harness business. Look after things. McGeehan, when reading summaries of the Grand Circuit, finds three shots at Columbus Arrington. McGeehan is pleased to find that Magua, the gold bird, panned, now owned by McGeehan, has been discovered in the third hole in 2:31 1/2, at Old Magua.

Lawson N. Poller, who recently died in New York at the age of eighty, was a Vermonter by birth, and a New Yorker by adoption.

King David, the handsome, trotting stallion, owned by Dr. A. H. Pitch, of this city, and which was shown by him to the public at his paddock at the doctor's farm and killed, was sent the stallion King David, which was by the Rochester pure-bred, young mare. The latter is at the farm, sound, and going very fast.

Consultants 1, by Driscoll, placed her record at 2:10 1/4 the other day. She will be matched with Judge Brown for the same date, and make a bid for the team record of 2:06.

Judge Brown, the much touted trotter in the State, was defeated by Columbus and distanced John Taylor, the grey gelding who won the first heat, 1:09 1/2. He is a new man for the son of Discipline.

HEARST'S BOSTON AMERICAN

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST
50 AND 52 SUMMER ST., BOSTON, JULY 29, 1904

THE PRESIDENT'S WORDS AND REPUBLICAN PARTY'S DEEDS

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, in his speech of acceptance delivered at Oyater Bay, dwelt particularly on two features of the Government as he and the Republican Congress have conducted it.

These features were the Trusts and Honesty in Public Office, both themes on which the President has preached before.

Of the trusts he says:

"In dealing with the great organizations known as trusts we do not have to explain why the laws were not enforced, but to point out that they have actually been enforced and that legislation has been enacted to increase the effectiveness of their enforcement."

That is a fine sounding sentence. It rustles like khaki and it disregards the obstacles of fact like a Rough Rider charging up a hill.

How has Mr. Roosevelt's Administration enforced the law against the trusts?

In the enforcement, to which the President points with pride, the feat of Attorney-General—now Senator—Knox, who for the better part of two years kept pigeon-holed the testimony, adduced by a private citizen, of the Coal Trust's defiance of the law? The proof of the criminality of the Coal Trust has been in the possession of the Roosevelt Administration since 1902, and the Coal Trust is still a vicious, predatory fact in the problem of the life of every man in this country, and there has not been the slightest attempt on the part of the party in power to correct or curb the evil.

What is the "legislation enacted to increase the effectiveness" of the enforcement of the laws against the predatory trusts to which President Roosevelt refers so ringingly?

IS IT THE ACT, SIGNED BY HIM, BY WHICH THE ANTI-TRUST LAW WAS ENACTED, BY HAVING STRICKEN FROM ITS PROVISIONS THE ONLY SECTION OF WHICH THE MEN WHO ENGINEER THE GREAT ROBBER TRUSTS ARE AFRAID—THE PROVISION PROVIDING IMPRISONMENT AS THE PENALTY FOR FORMING AND MAINTAINING COMBINATIONS IN RESTRAINT OF TRADE?

That is the only legislation enacted under Mr. Roosevelt on the trust question, and who is there that doubts that it was at the instance of the trusts themselves that the Captains of Piracy were freed from the only menace the law held for them?

With a Coal Trust, the actuality of which is demonstrated over the signatures of the very men who organized it in the documents in the Attorney-General's office; with a Beef Trust that, despite injunctions, has quite abandoned even the pretence that it does not dictate the price of the people's food; with a Standard Oil Trust and a Copper Trust, the criminal practices of which are testified to by an actual accomplice in their proceedings, what is the use of placing such an avowal as the President makes before the people of the United States?

The Republican party is the party of the trusts.

In Mr. Roosevelt's own language, "Words are good when backed by deeds, and only so."

Where are the deeds that back the words of the President's speech of Wednesday?

"We do not propose to turn the rascals out" is another phrase of the President's response to the notification of his nomination, "for we have shown in every deed that whenever by diligent investigation a public official can be found who has betrayed his trust he will be punished to the full extent of the law." * * * Never has the administration of the Government been on a clearer and higher level; never has the public work of the nation been done more honestly and efficiently."

This elevated sentiment, taken in connection with the Post Office frauds, and the investigation throttled in Congress, and the Indian land frauds—all unpunished—cannot fail of appreciation by a people that is tired of the rule of a party and a President that gives it promises instead of relief, and that is as feeble in performance as it is strenuous in profession.

President Roosevelt's address to the Notification Committee adds no hope to the situation of the citizen who is truly concerned with the welfare of his country. He has heard it all before and knows how little it means.

That citizen now awaits the utterance of Judge Parker, who a fortnight hence will give to the country his view of the issues that confront us and the means required to meet them.

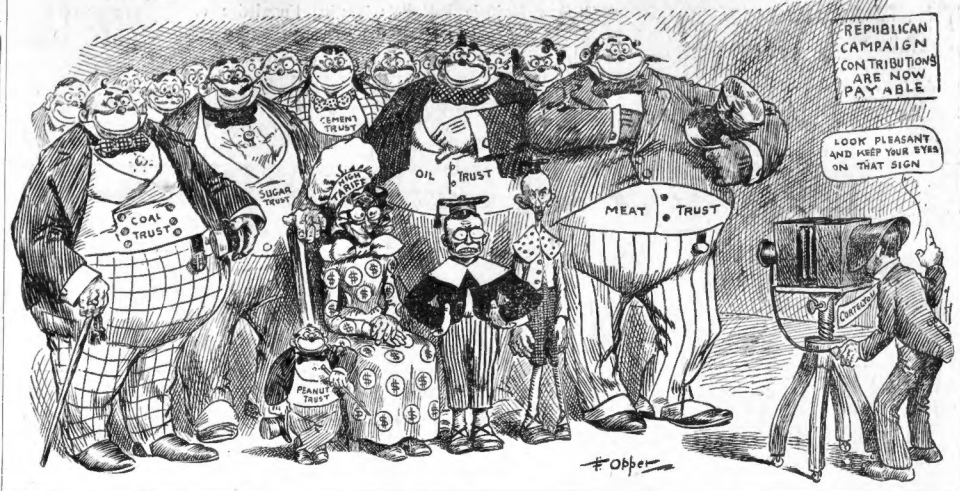

President Roosevelt's platitudeous acceptance affords the Democratic candidate a brilliant opportunity to make plain to the people of the United States that it is only in Democracy that they may hope to find relief from the menacing ills that three years of Rooseveltism has developed.

To obtain the undivided support of his party, and the independent vote of the country as well, Judge Parker has only to show in his letter of acceptance that he is in hearty accord with the St. Louis platform on trusts and tariff; to prove to the voters that the declarations of that platform are not mere perfunctory professions, but that they represent the true spirit of Democracy and that he may be relied on to carry out their provisions.

THE PEOPLE HAVE HAD ENOUGH OF GOVERNMENT FOR THE PROFIT OF FAVORED INTERESTS. THEY ARE READY TO RALLY TO THE CANDIDATE WHO WILL SATISFY THEM THAT HE IS AS SENSIBLE AS THEY TO THE NECESSITY OF AN ADMINISTRATION THAT WILL OBSERVE AND ENFORCE THE LAW AND THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

I HAD just held a short conversation with Bob Fitzsimmons on the subject of his deferred match with heart get a week.
You met up with Bob he was pasting a picture of the Mayor of Philadelphia on a punching bag and getting ready to take a little exercise.
Bob Fitzsimmons has a wonderful collection of live stock made up to look like household pets, and the principal one of these is a self-champing kangaroo.
His kangaroo seems to reflect the words of his master, viz at the moment was red like a sunburst, since Mayor Weaver passed Bob der ice pitcher.
"It was so difficult, an eggplant difficulty to earn a living these days," Bob expatiated bitterly as he watched his pet kangaroo chew up der besting gloves vich Bob would use no more longer.
"Here at home was beetle mouths to feed, and I had not wanted a rib not asked a law for justice a year?"
Bob sighed bitterly.
"Here was a little at home mit so van to hold an argument mit eggplant a cuckoo clock vich strikes and den ducks."
There was almost a sob in Bob's throat.
"I should be out in der world mit a flag wrapped around my middle distance, reaching for der gate receipt."
Bob brushed away a tear of regret.
"There is der baby crying for a new dress, und, cuss on der luck! I had not been able to land a right hook, for so long do I forget der order of arrival." He fell mit der sad news of longing for der upholstery.
"Here is now a new bet! Suppose waiting me and not an eye looked?"
Fitzsimmons seemed to partake of his master's despondency, for he availed der besting glove and van elated.
"Here is der growler's bill looking me in der face and not a nose broke for many many years vich."
"Well den, Bob's automobile chuffer, cuss on der luck!"
Bob opened der message vich der pet kangaroo opened der second boxing glove.
Bob read der message like dis: "I had best not den you best against der spring forever and wish to congratulate your future wife like to cloth me at Zion and best silence and der English inaktive!" So Major cuss on der luck.

BOSTON AMERICAN:
I was a daily reader of the BOSTON AMERICAN, and have been since it first appeared. I feel it my duty to congratulate Mr. Hearst on the methods he has adopted in securing the most wholesome as well as the most interesting news, which is not only keeping its readers in touch with all the important events of every-day life, but also opens up a store of education for all.
The public should look with pride upon a daily paper that is independent of race or class, advocates what is right, and just as kindly denounces all evil "Criticisms."

NOW WHAT D'YE THINK OF THAT?

The stars are quite as impolite
As anything could be.
They look in through the window pane
At night and wink at me.

And once I got so awful mad
At them for doing that I hollered right out loud: "Hey, there!
It's me you're winking at!"

And mother she came flying in,
And father said no know
That I was ill and had a chill,
And maybe nightmare, too.

And I just let 'em think 'twas that,
But when I said my prayers
I added: "Please to tell your stars
To mind their own affairs."
